Lions Club Drama Festival Expected to be Huge Success; Four Clubs Taking Part

Frank Hoesk's String Section Of C.N.P. Symphony Orchestra To Provide Music; Plays to be Both Humorous and Serious.

Coleman Lions club on Friday evening in the Community hall at 8 p.m. sharp will sponsor a drama festival which will include one act plays by Macleod Lions club, Bellevue (High School), Coleman Drama club and Coleman Lions club. No work has been spared to make the festival a success and from outward appearances interest has been created among the public to such an extent that the committee is confident that a large number will be in attendance.

Bellevue high school will be the first to present their act. The title is "The Tail of the Dragon," and was written by Elliot Field. The scene is in Shanghai and the play deals with modern times as the customs of the west and of the east conflict. It is a most interesting play and the cast has spent many hours in practice.

Coleman Drama club will appear in the second play. The title is "Dust of the Road" and is directed by Oliver Salvador. The time is about 1 a.m. on a Christmas morning after the last war. The scene is in the living room of a comfortable home of a fairly prosperous middle western farmer. This is the first public appearance of the local group since they organized last winter and many await their act with interest.

Coleman Lions club holds third spot on the program and have chosen the play entitled "The Trap." Ray Spillers, Frank Hastie, Fred Guerard and Dr. Rose are in the cast and promise many minutes of high-class entertainment.

The Macleod Lions club will act a court room farce, its title being "Huff vs. Duff" (a breach of promise case). A few of the local Lions have witnessed this play and state that it is a scream from start to finish. It boasts of a cast of nine from the judge, right down to the foreman of the jury.

In addition to the plays Frank Hoesk will appear with his string section of the C.N.P. Symphony orchestra. They will provide the music for the overture and intermissions. Solo selections will also be given by conductor Hoesk and Peter Bakaj, a local violinist of repute.

The Lions hope to sponsor this festival each year and so build up drama clubs in the Pass.

ENLIST IN 31st RECONNAISSANCE BATTALION

Twelve men from the Crows Nest Pass have recently enlisted in the 31st Reconnaissance battalion at Calgary. They are Joe McIntyre, of Coleman; W. Keyman and W. Mackie, of Hillcrest; A. Hobson, E. Beigan, of Blairmore; C. McDonald, A. Emmerson, E. Fortuno and J. Paul, of Bellevue; C. Lank and H. Poulson, of Cowley. The men were home on leave for a few days this week.

These N.C.O.'s have all had preliminary training with No. 1 Platoon "C" squadron, 15th Alberta Light Horse. It is understood that they will go to Camp Borden, Ont., for a period of intensive training before returning to their battalion.

Lions, Elks, Legion And Pattinson's Banquet Pee Wees

Boys Heartily Entertained; John Kerr Gave Gripping Address.

Monday night, April 13, the Coleman Lions' Club supper meeting took the form of a banquet with all the members of the Pee-Wee hockey teams, and members of the different organizations which sponsored a team, as their guests.

During the winter a Pee-Wee hockey league was organized among the boys of town. Four teams were in the league sponsored respectively by the "Elks," the "Legion," "Bob Pattinson" and the "Lions." Our reliable hockey enthusiast, Ray Spillers, was the moving spirit; and in his report of the season's activities revealed a very active and keenly fought contest with the "Lions" team just managing to edge out the "Elks" team in the final and receiving the cup which was on display at the banquet.

Those present from the Elks lodge and the Legion, and introduced by our genial president Percy Dickenson, were: Brick Bell, John (Brimbeck) Smith and William Gates from the Elks, and Tommy Rose and Ernie Beart from the Legion. Much credit was given to W. Gates for his keen interest in hockey for the boys and the securing of a cup for Pee-Wee competition. Ray Spillers was first introduced as the villain, and the response by the boys to the "cat-call"—"We were robbed by the referee" was rather convincing. But Ray, "the hero," later, was heartily endorsed by all present. All four hockey teams were introduced.

An evening, interspersed by hearty singing with Stuart Murdoch at the piano and Dr. Rose leading, and reports from the drama festival committee on the April 17 program, and the "Lions Auction Sale" committee, was concluded by a very practical and gripping speech on "Sportsmanship" by Johnnie Kerr, who, in his own masterly fashion, pictured this as the goal toward which every young hockey player should strive.

COLEMAN LIONS AT MACLEOD

At the regular Sunday evening concert at No. 7, S.F.T.S. Dr. Rose, Frank Hastie and Ray Spillers were the principals in a 15-minute play entitled "The Trap." It depicted a clever safe-cracker, posing as a secret service agent, fooling the watchful police, the agent being taken by Dr. Rose, and the police by Ray Spillers and Frank Hastie. The intriguing mystery of the play kept people on edge, particularly during the period of darkness when the safe-cracker gets in his nefarious work with an electricetylene torch. Accompanying the party to Macleod were Arthur E. Graham, Eladio Salvador, Stewart Murdoch and Frank Guerard, club secretary.

Legion Endeavors to Have Army Train Show Here

Will Be in Pass Saturday, April 25; at Present Scheduled To Stop at Blairmore.

The local Legion executive has gone into action to have the military train, at present touring the Dominion, show here on Saturday, April 25.

The present schedule calls for the train showing at Blairmore on Saturday, April 26, from 6:30 to 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon. It then moves on to Macleod where it will be on exhibition from 3 to 4 p.m.

As it usually is the case the men responsible for making arrangements for these tours only consider a central location and overlook the fact that though one town may not be centrally located it may possess the greater number of citizens. This is the case here, Coleman, having the greater population, is overlooked in favor of Blairmore.

Alex. Easton, upon instructions from the Legion executive phoned Brigadier F. M. W. Harvey, V.C., of Military District 13, and asked that since the train would be in the Pass for two days, if it would not be possible to have the train stop in Coleman on the Saturday and move on to Blairmore on the Sunday, especially when Coleman had the larger population and the fact that gasoline was now rationed and people were not travelling as freely as formerly.

A committee of two from the Legion attended a Legion meeting of the Pass clubs in Blairmore, last night and were endeavoring to gain the support of the Pass clubs to have the train appear in Coleman.

The train carries all the mechanical equipment essential in war today and throngs are attending wherever it is shown.

invited to attend these services and hear Rev. Dr. G. W. Kerby. Plans are under way to have Rev. Dr. G. W. Kerby lecture at a public meeting at the church following the church anniversary supper, Monday night, April 20, at 7:30 o'clock. Accompanied by musical numbers.

BAPTISMS

An interesting and appreciated baptismal service was solemnized at the home of Mr. John Balloch, Sunday afternoon, April 12, when John Campbell, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Balloch, received the Sacrament of Baptism. Grandpa John Balloch and Grandpa Daniel Kyle and his family from Hillcrest, were very attentive witnesses to the ceremony.

On Monday afternoon Gloria Jean, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Foster, received the Sacrament of Baptism at the United church manse. Little Gloria Jean has not enjoyed the best of health recently, we hope for her a speedy recovery.

Town Assessment Rate Set At 22 Mills; To Call Ratepayers' Meeting Monday, May 11

Council Deals With Much Business in Lengthy Session; Light Rate And Lighting System Order Confirmed; Appeals Received For Street Improvements.

Regular monthly meeting of the council was held on Monday. Present were Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Dutil, Cox, Jenkins and Ramsay.

There were a number of ratepayers present, some with grievances, others with requests for street or house improvements.

Mrs. Dave Holly, Fifth street, complained bitterly against the nuisance created by a large number of boys and girls playing alongside her home. They had created property damage, a ladder had disappeared as well as the milk on several occasions. In requesting quietness she had been insulted by some of the youths. Discussion on this matter by council later in the evening resulted in a letter being sent to Mrs. Holly promising her police protection in order that quietness might prevail in that vicinity.

J. M. Rushton asked council to create a drainage system behind his lot on main street to take care of the riverlet of water which runs through his lot during the spring thaws and rains. A residence, recently erected, had destroyed the former drainage system. He also complained of water dumped by nearby neighbors from their clothes' wash coming through his lot, the stench being severe at times. Works and Property committee was authorized to investigate with power to act.

Mr. Rushton, as secretary of the local St. John Ambulance association, stated the association had formed a brigade and offered its services to the council when ever needed. He asked the co-operation of the council when it should be required. The brigade is in need of no financial assistance.

Jack Clarke, Sixth street, complained to council that owing to the town workmen dumping gravel behind his lot it had resulted in a squeeze on his fence so that today the fence had been buried and gravel was rolling onto his lot. Town foreman John Nikituk stated he was not responsible for the damage. Two councillors had inspected the scene of dispute last year and had decided council was not responsible. The Works and Property committee will inspect the ground next week and was given power to act.

The tenant of the Lycka residence was again present to ask for repairs. This time he wanted repairs to the porch, steps and a new site for the outhouse. Works and Property committee will visit the property and was given power to act.

Again a few ratepayers were present to object to Councillor George Ford sitting on the council. Arguments heard at previous meetings were again aired. Mr. Ernie Houghton presented council with a petition signed by twenty ratepayers asking council to call a ratepayers' meeting for the purpose of discussing Mr. Ford's eligibility to sit on council. The ratepayers' meeting will be held in the council chamber on Monday, May 11 at 7 p.m. Town Solicitor, Sam Bannan will be present to handle the case for the council.

Mrs. M. E. Cornett asked council to fill in the hole in front of her residence on Forty street. Works and Property committee will inspect the hole in question.

Complaint has been made to council that a number of residents particularly at the west end of West Coleman refuse to pay for removal of ashes and are spreading them in holes nearby their property. This practice in time will create an eyesore in that section of town and one councillor was most emphatic that the police put a stop to the practice. The police was instructed to visit all persons causing a nuisance by scattering ashes over their lots to give them a stern warning that the property must be cleaned up within a stated time. Failure to do so would cause them to be brought into court.

Confirmation of the agreement between the council and Coleman Light & Water company was received from the company. In the fiscal year, July 1, 1941, to June 30, 1942, the cost of street lighting totalled $1,145. The ensuing year, July 1, 1942, till June 30, 1943 must reach the same figure. Failure to do so gives the company the right to invoice the town for the balance remaining to bring the light costs up to $1,145. The Board of Public Utilities will be asked to agree to the arrangements made between the council and company.

Due to heavy spring work coming up Town Foreman, John Nikituk, asked council for help. There appears to be no able-bodied men available and as a result the council was unable to do anything regarding the matter at this particular time.

Robert Gee was awarded the contract to take the town hall chimney and furnace.

A letter was received from the Community hall committee asking that the 1942 taxes be waived. It stated that almost $2,000 had been spent on repairs to the hall this year. After a little discussion the taxes were waived the council being in the hope that the newly renovated hall will create sufficient revenue during the next year that the hall will be in a position to pay taxes in 1943. Total War For Canada

"Total War" is a phrase which we hear often these days. For many months now it has been a reality to the people of England and more recently Australians have come to know the full force of its meaning. Because we in Canada have been far removed from the scene of the conflict, our war effort, while it has been most commendable, has not been what could be considered "total." In proportion to our population, the numbers of men who have joined the armed services have been large, and the production of munitions and other materials of war has gone forward at a pace far beyond initial schedules.

Mr. Churchill described our war effort as "magnificent," and Lt.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, on his arrival in England after his recent visit to Canada, said of us: "There has been a wonderful speed-up in everything. I have seen the spirit of those in training, the devotion of the men and women in the factories, working with determination and confidence. There is no doubt our forces here are constantly in the minds of those at home and we shall lack for nothing that is required to equip us for battle against the enemy. We shall have all the reinforcements needed, and the people of Canada, in mind, body and soul, are fully determined to see this through to its successful conclusion. So I can look to the Canadian Forces, and we go forward with every confidence in the fine support which we shall have."

Mobilization Plan

Nevertheless, Canadians everywhere have welcomed recent measures taken by the government to further increase the Dominion's contribution toward the great struggle for freedom in which the United Nations are now engaged. The man-power mobilization plan, together with the proposed expansion of our armed services, promises to make Canada's war effort "all-out" and to put our war industries and our army, navy, and air force on a footing comparable with those of England and Australia. If the manpower mobilization plan is enforced to the limits of its powers there will be few men between the ages of seventeen and forty-five who will not be affected, for it provides that all men in that age category be in the armed forces or in some essential industry.

Agriculture will be affected in that no one engaged in farm work will be allowed to change his occupation except to join up for active service, or to take seasonal employment in another primary industry. In industrial centres it is expected that factory workers will be absorbed more and more into war industries or into the armed services, as the "luxury" industries will gradually discontinue producing, due to shortage of materials or consumer restrictions. Women, too, are to be encouraged to take over in greater numbers, duties which will release men for active service.

Selective Service

A system of selective service will be used in mobilizing manpower, and allocating men to that field of service for which they are best suited. It is hoped to operate the plan as much as possible on a voluntary basis, but when compulsion is needed, provision is made for it to be applied. It is estimated that to bring our war effort up to the desired strength, there is needed in the next few months for 100,000 more workers for munition plants; 13,000 men for the navy; 90 to 100,000 for the army overseas; and 70 to 80,000 for the air force. Our army is to be expanded by two new divisions, the seventh and eighth, and these will be used as a "mobile reserve" for defense of our East and West coasts. In the last war, Canada had only five divisions, and the fifth was partially disbanded. In this war there are six, with the immediate prospect of two more. In addition we have our navy and air force, the latter to be greatly augmented, since it was announced recently that the costs of the R.C.A.F. for the coming year are to be $120,000,000 greater than was originally planned. Thus Canada is facing the increasing threats of enemy attacks with a mobilization of men and resources which should cause confidence and pride.

Losses Are Small

Very Few Ferried Planes Fail To Arrive In Britain

John G. McConnell, of Montreal, public relations officer of the Atlantic Ferry command of the Royal Air Force, has disclosed that the organization has a 100 per cent. record in the delivery of Catalinas and Liberators to Britain and has lost only "in the neighborhood of one per cent." of the Hudsons flown.

Mr. McConnell said United States pilots still outnumber Canadians in the ferry service but that Commonwealth Air Training Plan graduates are now taking planes to Britain and the proportion of Dominion men in the service will increase as more and more of these crews are used.

So far there has been no proof of enemy attempts to interfere with the service, the Montrealer added.

What We Are Saving

Figures Tell How No New Cars Help War Effort

Negatives never won wars, says the Quebec Chronicle Telegraph, but here are a few things we are not doing or need not do which will hurry the day when we can ring the bells of victory:

For every 24 autos we are not making, we save enough rubber and steel for a 27-ton tank; for each automobile we are not making, we save enough tin to coat 1,000 cans in which to pack food for the armed services; for every 700 automobiles we are not making, we save enough aluminum to make one fighter plane.

Horticulturalist Says The Quality And Vitamin Content Not Lost

H. J. Moore, horticulturalist of Islington, Ont., has devised a means of dehydrating tomatoes for shipment to Britain, and reducing them to powder form without impairing the quality and without loss of vitamin content. A ton of fresh tomatoes, when dehydrated and powdered, will weigh approximately 125 pounds, said Mr. Moore. A ton of tomatoes will produce 2,000 quarts of soup.

A Chinese Vegetable

Celutce Grows Readily And Has Many Culinary Uses

For hundreds of years the Chinese have been growing a vegetable which tastes like a combination of celery and lettuce. Lately, inquiring Occidental food experts discovered that this product was rich in at least four vitamins—A, B, C, and G. It was not surprising, therefore, that a well-known American firm of plant-raisers and seed-distributors should have commenced, this season, the promotion of the plant, called "celutce," on this side of the Pacific. The vegetable is said to have several advantages. For instance, besides being vitamin-rich, it grows readily and has many culinary uses.

One suspects that "celutce" is not quite the "food of the gods" that the catalogues will make it out to be, but it should find ready sale among the people of a currently vitamin-conscious continent.

The reference to vitamins brings to mind the most recent advice of specialists in this line, who now recommend the eating of such commonplace but heretofore despised delicacies as dandelions, stinging nettles, wild mustard and so forth. Then, of course, there is grass, for such as like it. As the ways have already observed, King Nebuchadnezzar, who went in for a diet of that stuff, may not have been so crazy after all. By the same token, many of the ancient herbal remedies and diets recommended by the witches, "wise women" and other curers of human ills are now being found to have merit. This, of course, is merely a re-discovery of things the ancients knew but which subsequently became regarded as quackery. Science, it seems, sometimes progresses in circles.—Brantford Expositor.

Produced By The Troops

Wherever They Are Soldiers Try To Have Their Paper

The numerous B.E.F.'s of the present war are even more journalists than those of the last one, though they have so far produced nothing quite in the same street as the famous "Wipers Times," says a London correspondent in the Ottawa Journal. In the London Press Club is displayed a copy of "The Midnight Sun," a weekly journal produced by British troops in Iceland, and edited by Captain Singleton Gates, a member of the club. The special interest of this particular issue is the cover, to a private's strike, it had to be manufactured and was brought out under great difficulty. An Icelandic firm runs another newspaper for the troops, "The Daily Post," and the American troops have their own weekly, "The White Falcon." At first they ran two, one for the army and another for the marines, but their C-in-C decided one was enough, and they amalgamated. Besides these there are other weekly and monthly journals produced by the military units in Iceland. Even during their brief sojourn at Spitzbergen the Canadians printed their own journal. British men in Crete actually ran a paper under fire for four days. There were also the "Tobruk Times" and journals specially produced during the campaigning in Eritrea and Abyssinia.

Shortage Of Jute

Farmers Are Urged To Save All Sacks And Bags

From now on farmers would be well advised to take particular care of sacks and bags they may have on hand. The spread of the war in the Orient has seriously affected the possibility of getting supplies of jute, the raw material from which the best bags and sacks are made. In fact it is going to be very difficult to get supplies of jute in any quantities. Jute comes principally from India and is used in various classes of textiles from fine fabrics to coarse bagging, in cordage, binding twine and to meet a variety of needs on the farm.

If you have a number of bags or sacks on hand, the first important measure to preserve them is to keep them dry. Damp rots burlap quickly. Take the bags you have, and add pieces of burlap, shake them out and spread out in a dry place where you are sure rats and mice cannot get at them. Any kind of cotton or duck bag or sack should also be preserved. You can mend any holes with the odd pieces of material you have, providing of course such pieces are in good condition. What supplies of burlap and canvas material are on hand are required for the fighting forces—so it is advisable to take care of any bags or sacks, as you may not be able to get any more—and it looks as if you won't for a long time.

Shortage Is Serious

Two Ships Carrying Oats For Bermuda's Horses Were Lost

Bermuda's horses, upon which the colony depends largely for transportation, are threatened with famine. N. H. P. Vesey, chairman of the Colonial Food Board, said loss of two ships bearing cargoes of oats to Bermuda had created a serious situation. Some liveries are feeding their horses rolled oats.

Mr. Vesey said he telephoned New York requesting two carloads of oats, regardless of the country of origin—an unprecedented step for Bermuda, which in the past has bought all its feed exclusively from Canada.

A Rude Awakening

Entire Undercarriage Of Trailer Stolen While Owner Slept

Inside
An enterprising thief at Hamilton, Ont., stole the entire undercarriage—wheels, tires and axles—off a trailer without even waking the sleeping owner inside.

A sheepish trailer-occupant who reported the theft to Hamilton police, said he noticed the trailer rocking a bit, but slept on only to discover on awakening in the morning that his trailer had been jacked up carefully and stripped of its underpinnings.

Gauze is said to have been first named in Gaza, in Palestine; hence its name.

BIG AIR OFFENSIVE IS PLANNED AGAINST GERMANY TO ASSIST RUSSIA IN HER EPIC EFFORT

London.—The United States air force will join the R.A.F. in blasting Germany within a month, and the two allies will do everything in their power to help Russia's epic effort to crush the common Nazi enemy, highly placed experts predict here.

This, they said, would be the upshot of the visit here of the United States chief of staff, Gen. George C. Marshall, and Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's supply man.

Britain and the United States were pictured as expecting Germany's supreme effort this summer to be directed at the two supply lines over which increasing quantities of vital war material are moving to the decisive Russian battlefield to equip the Soviet army, long on manpower but short on machines of war.

The German thrusts are expected toward the oil riches of the Caucasus and the Persian gulf and against the northern route which ends at Murmansk and Archangel.

The growing U.S. military establishments which Marshall is inspecting and the increasing pool of United States planes in Britain were taken as indications that American pilots would be bombing Germany within a month to retard the Nazis' eastward offensive.

Britain, the United States and Russia all see a Japanese stab in the Russian back in Siberia as one of the many dangers this year. British military opinion is convinced a Japanese attack will take place either just before or coincident with the opening of Hitler's main war effort. The Russians say simply, "we are ready if it comes."

One highly placed Russian, discussing the possibility, asked what the services thought the Japanese could put into a Siberian attack. "Fourteen to 17 divisions," was the reply. "It won't be enough," said the Russian.

There have been candid assertions in Russian circles that they will never suffer a Pearl Harbor at Vladivostok. And there are equally candid hints that if Japan attacks the Soviet Red bombers will swiftly span the 650 miles to Tokyo and the great industrial cities with the one object of destroying the Japanese war foundries. This would, be accompanied by a carte blanche invitation to the United States to join the Russians in the blasting of the closely packed and highly inflammable Japanese industrial cities.

Both British and American quarters were silent officially on the trends of the virtually continuous conferences Gen. Marshall and Hopkins are holding with British leaders, because of the danger of tipping off the Axis on 1942 strategy. But no one is making a secret of the urgency with which they regard the matter of immediate aid to Russia.

The very presence here of Marshall and Hopkins at such a critical time—rather than a visit to other theatres—emphasized the British and United States view that Hitler is the No. 1 enemy and Russia is the main hope of liquidating him.

The Allied navies are engaged to the hilt in conveying trains of supplies for Russia's summer campaign. The shipping shortage is so acute that it probably will be some time before sufficient transports will be available for a continental invasion to open the second front which the Russians have been asking for months.

PAY CONTINUES ON EXISTING BASIS FOR CANADIAN RESERVE ARMY NOW BEING ENLARGED

Ottawa.—Pay for the Canadian reserve army, now being enlarged and revitalized, will continue on the existing basis, at rates slightly below those of the active army, national defence department spokesmen said.

Basic pay for privates in the reserve is $12.00 a day against $13.00 a day for privates in the active army. Pay for higher ranks show a corresponding deviation from that allowed the men of the active forces.

As yet there has been no suggestion that Canada follow the example of Australia, which, according to a recent press despatch, placed its militia—corresponding to the reserve in Canada—on the same pay basis as the full-time forces.

Officers and men in the Canadian reserve army are entitled to rations

PLEBISCITE VOTE

National Council Of Women Urges Everyone To Give Support

Ottawa.—Mrs. Edgar Hardy, president of the National Council of Women, issued a statement urging Canadian women to vote in the April 27 plebiscite to release the government from its no-conscription pledges.

Mrs. Hardy's statement follows: "Whether we approve or not of the action of the Dominion government, the plebiscite now has been taken out of party politics with the leaders of all parties asking its support in the vote on April 27."

With the recognition of this, we believe that an affirmative vote on the plebiscite will strengthen our war effort. No loyal Canadian can refuse to face his responsibility in the light of the seriousness of the present situation.

The last war gave Canadian women the franchise. It behooves each one of us now to exercise our prerogative, thereby standing strongly behind every effort to increase Canada's position and strengthen the cause of the United Nations.

RESTRICT TELEPHONES

Order Of Priority Will Be Effective In Future

Ottawa. The telephone in the average Canadian home appears reasonably secure, although telephone companies, by an order of the war-time prices and trade board, were instructed to provide service according to a strict order of priority.

Telephone representatives who have been in consultation with the prices board said it seems probable many persons now enjoying a private telephone line may have to split that line with some other telephone user.

The householder with more than one telephone instrument in his home may be asked to give up one as shortages of equipment develop.

And where companies run into difficulty in supplying customers with high priority ratings such as the armed services, munitions plants and essential civilian services, the prospect always exists that John Citizen may lose his telephone service altogether in order that they may be served.

PASSENGER BUSES

Will Be Khaki Colored, With Grey Roofs, In Future

Victoria.—All new passenger buses in Canada in future will be khaki colored, with grey roofs, Harold Husband, Vancouver Island regional transit controller, has been advised by the federal transit controller in Ottawa. When buses now in use need new paint they will be done in dark khaki and grey.

The names of the owner companies will be allowed to be displayed on the buses as briefly and as inconspicuously as possible.

FLEET IS STRONGER

Chicago.—Lynn Strambaugh, national commander of the American Legion, in a radio address quoted a statement he credited to Navy Secretary Frank Knox saying that "the nation's Pacific fleet in ships, planes and men is even stronger today than it was before Dec. 7."

and shelter at public expense while in training camps and to transportation to and from camp.

A training day at camp for pay purposes is 24 hours but for drill and training at local headquarters of their units the men are paid on the basis that a morning, afternoon or evening parade lasting two hours is equal to one-third of a day, and tactical exercise or field training lasting five hours or more is equal to a whole day.

Church parades, small arms training periods of inspections, if they last two hours or more, are counted as half-days.

No dependents' allowances are payable on behalf of men in the reserve army but they are entitled to pensions if killed or injured in the discharge of their military duties.

PRaises WAR EFFORT

Mayor La Guardia Of New York Has Good Word To Say Of Canada

New York.—Mayor La Guardia, arriving by air from Montreal where he presided over a meeting of the joint permanent defence board, praised the Canadian war effort in a press interview at La Guardia airport.

He said many people outside Canada failed to realize that while the total population of Canada is but little more than that of the metropolitan New York area, "their war production and effort is that of a country of 100,000,000 people."

"The Canadians are doing a swell job in both production and manpower devoted toward winning the war," the mayor said. "When you realize how few people there are in Canada and how many industries—agriculture, mining, manufacturing, fishing and maritime activities—you will see that it is not an easy task for them to continue their various civilian activities and at the same time provide for an abundance of war materials. It is only fair that the very excellent job they are doing with what they have on hand should be acknowledged."

The mayor said the board's next meeting would be April 27 in New York. He declined to describe what occurred at the Montreal meeting except to say that "we had a crowded calendar."

PRESS CENSORSHIP

Editor Thinks Canada's Probably Most Sensible In The World

Halifax. More rigid press censorship for Canada in the near future was forecast by Ronald McEachern of Montreal, assistant editor of the Financial Post, in an address before a service (Rotary) club.

Mr. McEachern, who spoke on "Wartime Functions of the Press," described Canadian press censorship as "probably more sensible than any other in the world."

Gets George Medal For Rescuing Two

Sergt. Thomas B. Miller of Owen Sound, and Saint John, N.B., is the first member of the R.C.A.F. to win the George Medal for "prompt and extremely brave action." The 20-year-old observer entered the flaming wreck of his crashed bomber to rescue the pilot, then the wireless operator. The latter, said Miller was a "sort of human torch" and "I had to roll him on the grass to put the fire out." Miller was badly hurt in the crash landing and spent three months in hospital.

Elliott M. Little of Quebec City has been appointed director of national selective service for Canada. He is a graduate in engineering from the University of Toronto and has been general manager of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Co. Previous to his new appointment, Mr. Little was serving as director of the wartime bureau of technical personnel.

TROOPS MOVED

Nazis Take Precautions Against British Landing On Belgian Coast

London. German troops are being concentrated along the Belgian coast apparently as a precaution against any British landing attempts the News-Chronicle said. Some of the thousands of new troops were sent there from the northern French region of Cambrai which has been a rest centre for troops invalided back from the Russian front, the newspaper said.

MORE COMPUSSIONS

London.—A special parliamentary committee recommended sterner compulsion to force individuals into jobs in which they would be most useful in Britain's wartime industry.

LACK OF SHIPPING WOULD MILITATE AGAINST SUCCESS OF ALLIED INVASION PLAN

FIX SPEED LIMIT

Forty Miles An Hour To Apply Throughout Canada

Ottawa.—It was learned in official quarters that an order-in-council has been passed which will mean in effect, that a speed limit of 40 miles an hour will apply throughout Canada from next May 1.

Under the terms of the order-in-council, the 40-mile speed limit will be effective in all provinces which by May 1 have not passed provincial legislation fixing the speed at that limit.

Munitions Minister Howe announced recently that the government favored a 40-mile limit throughout the Dominion as a means of conserving gasoline and tires.

A spokesman for the munitions and supply department also emphasized the value of the measure as a means of saving wear and tear on tires and consumption of gasoline.

Government spokesmen have frequently stressed that there is a serious shortage of rubber. Since April 1 gasoline has been rationed in Canada.

NEW STAMPS

Canada Issue In Preparation Will Be Available During July

Ottawa.—Canada will soon have an entirely new set of postage stamps illustrating her part in the war. Postmaster-General Mulock has made known to the Canadian Press that the issue is in preparation.

The new stamps are expected to be available sometime in July but post office officials meantime ask that philatelists refrain from sending in requests for them.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Cairo.—The man who was prime minister of Egypt at the start of the European war was arrested. An official announcement by the Egyptian cabinet said the 56-year-old Ali Maher Pasha was taken into custody for "reasons relating to the safety and security of the state."

NEW PRICE POLICY IS ORDERED FOR WESTERN PROVINCES ON SCRAP IRON AND STEEL SUPPLIES

Ottawa.—Large supplies of scrap iron and steel in the more remote areas of the western provinces are expected to be made available for war purposes under a new price policy ordered by Steel Controller Kilbourn.

Other orders set the maximum price to be paid for scrap in the maritime provinces and in British Columbia. With the demand for scrap increasing to meet war needs prices throughout Canada have been placed under strict control. Previous orders regulated prices in Ontario and Quebec.

Heavy freight charges have in the past hindered dealers from buying scrap in the Peace River district and other western areas distant from cities where foundries, the consumers of scrap, are located. Under the new order a "seller" price to be paid to the dealer has been established, the price received by the individual selling to the dealer will be slightly below this price to allow for handling and loading costs.

In British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba dealers will receive a minimum of $10 a ton for cast iron and in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba $7 a ton for steel. Loading and handling charges averaging about $1.50 a ton, making the price individuals will receive about $8.50 for cast iron and $5.50 for steel.

These prices will apply throughout the provinces specified in the order, regardless of the cost of freight to move the scrap to the ultimate consuming plant.

The prices quoted in the orders apply to No. 1 cast iron and differentials for lower grades vary from $2 to $3 below these prices. In the west a ton of scrap is 2,000 pounds and in the maritimes 2,240 pounds.

The department of munitions and supply announced that to assist in speeding the flow of vital war materials from the United States to Canadian manufacturers working on war orders, regional offices of the priorities officer will be established in the main industrial centres of Canada.

The statement quoted R. C. Berklshaw, chairman of the wartime industries control board and Canadian priorities officer, as saying:

"The change-over to the new system and the addition of the new regulations issued at Washington have put an enormous strain on our staff. In one week as many as 7,000 applications for United States priority ratings were handled. Hundreds of applications are being held up because they are incorrectly completed."

The sabre of a dead Japanese officer, killed by U.S. forces in the battle for the Philippines, is the present of General Douglas MacArthur, head of the United Nations forces in Australia, to President Roosevelt. NOTES AND COMMENTS

Canada's Reserve Army

The response to appeals for enlistment in the reserve army has not been encouraging. Men of varying ages and some who cannot qualify under the medical categories for the active forces are giving their time to attend parades after working hours or on Sundays. There is little glory in it, but they acquire knowledge that may be very useful and helpful to their fellow citizens if the necessity arises. In every community there are leaders in this work who receive little, if any credit for their good work. They use their cars and buy gasoline to organize, but their work is hardly appreciated by those who know very little of it and do not trouble to find out how they too, can help. Business men should give all the support possible to those who shoulder the responsibility.

Words Are Not Sufficient

Though cabinet ministers have broadcast addresses urging voters to mark ballots "Yes" in the Plebiscite to release the government from its pre-election pledge, little interest has been aroused. There is a very marked apathy and unless every citizen who realizes the seriousness of the conditions existing urges his neighbor to go to the polling booth on April 27, the result will be very disappointing and will make our Allies wonder what is wrong in Canada. Such a plebiscite should have never been necessary, but we must face the fact and do all we can to secure a favorable vote by an overwhelming majority. Those who have sons, brothers or husbands in the active forces will need little urging. It is those whom the war has not touched in a direct way on whom the responsibility rests.

Those who have enjoyed immunity from war's ravages should be in the forefront of the campaign to secure a favorable vote. Democracy is very weak in many respects in combating Totalitarianism, and if it is to survive, it can only do so by the forthright energy of those who enjoy its privileges. We have had too soft a time since the last war. Our system of government was developed only by plain living and high thinking and hard work. Doles and relief have not only been a great drain on those who work steadily, but have weakened the moral fibre of many of the recipients. Our methods must be changed in order to win the war.

What Do You Think of This?

The New Democracy group of members following their caucus recently, state they "find it impossible to commit their supporters to any particular line of action in the national plebiscite." In the face of national crisis, when the winning of the war and the influencing of public opinion towards that end is of the most vital importance, these utterances are in keeping with New Democracy members to withhold co-operation in any form with the Federal government, even when such a vital issue is at stake. One can imagine the feelings of those who have relatives in the fighting forces when they ponder over such words. Countries in Europe which failed to unite for self-defence crumbled and fell. There is danger of Canada crumbling too, when we have such utterances placed before the people. It is hoped that such statements as these will awaken people to the dangers that beset us and incite them to bestir themselves to show that Canada is determined to work for Victory, despite what Quebec and New Democracy members say. It should make the boys overseas as well as people at home "fighting mad" to read such tripe.

The Spring Clean-Up

Now's the time when everyone has the urge to clean up and paint up. The warm air and sprouting grass entices people to remain outdoors, to do something useful around the place. There will be the smell of paint both inside and outside the house. All nature re-awakes, and even the most lazy will bestir themselves with Spring-time energy. Poems will start flowing into newspaper offices, bluebirds and robins will be flitting around gardens, and life in general will take on a more rosy hue. Incidentally, merchants can encourage the urge to clean up and paint up by telling what wonderful colors they have to brighten the home surroundings. Spring creates the desire to freshen up around the place.

The Red Cross Appeal

The Red Cross Society MUST depend on voluntary subscriptions. It cannot be funded by any belligerent government without violating the Geneva conventions, and endangering its Convention rights, privileges and immunities. The Red Cross should never be fired on by any belligerent, though there have been instances of the sinking of hospital ships and bombing of hospitals. The appeal to be made between May 11 and May 23 solicits $9,000,000 or more.

It costs more than $5,000,000 a year alone to supply parcels of food and other necessities to prisoners-of-war as requested by the Canadian, British, Australian and New Zealand governments. It is only through the Canadian Red Cross Society that this help can be given.

Town Assessment

the hall question it was revealed that $13,000 had been taken off the assessment roll due to soldiers being exempt from taxation. This was $288 in actual cash from taxation revenue. Said Mayor Antrobus, if the present rate of tax exemptions is maintained the town will be hard pressed to keep from raising the mill rate.

A letter was received from J. Evans protesting against having to pay a fee to the local medical health officer for signing a certificate enabling him to secure his restaurant license. He maintained that as a ratepayer he was contributing to the monthly fee paid by the town to the M.H.O. Council will send the M.H.O. a letter stating that in its opinion no fee should be charged for such work as it is part of the duties which the town is paying to have done.

The residents of Mayfair avenue again asked council to improve this avenue. Mud and rocks make for difficult walking. The residents had asked for improvement last year but had failed in their request. Works and Property committee will again inspect the avenue and was given power to act.

A $10 donation was granted the Crows' Nest Pass Musical festival. Confirmation was received from J. R. Miller, manager of the supply division of General Electric, confirming the order placed by council for the new street lighting system.

The contract with Modern Electric to supply the town with electric bulbs was renewed. The same terms, 20% reduction, will be in effect.

Three by-laws were passed. The secretary-treasurer was appointed assessor for 1942.

The assessment rate of 22 mills will be set for the 1942 taxation. A 10% discount will be given on all payments of current taxes up to Saturday, August 8. The 22 mills will allow the town to raise $18,000.

In dealing with the estimates, Chairman of the Works and Property committee, W. Dutil, stated he had in mind the seal coating of the hardsurfaced roads laid last year as well as extensive repairs to roads already laid. Concrete curbs at various sections of town would also be built.

The Works and Property committee will give consideration to the police's suggestion that the old building on the town lot next to the bank be torn down and a building housing two garages on the south side suitable for renting and a garage and tool house on the north side to take care of the town's snow plow and tools be built.

Council gave the secretary-treasurer a vote of thanks for her good work in causing $800 in tax arrears to be paid. Statements had been sent out during the past few weeks to those in arrears and the response had been most gratifying.

A vote of thanks was also given Sgt. Mudiman, R.C.M.P., and his staff for their splendid co-operation with the local police.

82 dog licenses have been sold this year. Council thanked Constable Antle for his diligence in getting dog owners to take out a license. They asked him to keep the pressure on dog owners who still have not secured a license.

It is not generally known that the town is under heavy expense to keep three girls in provincial homes and a Salvation Army home. Two of them in the provincial homes are costing the town $15 each month. It was moved that letters be written to the provincial authorities asking that they try and get one, a baby, adopted, and that the other, a teen-aged girl, be sent home. The girl in the Salvation Army home has been costing the town $12 monthly for a great many years. Her parents died when she was quite young and she became the town's responsibility. She is now 16 years and in grade X. It is her ambition to become a nurse. Council will take up this case in June at the end of the girl's school term.

The fire chief's report was read. It dealt with the Trot and Zur fires. The fire brigade had been called to the fire although it was outside the town limits. Credit was given the brigade for saving the Cornil and Kulig homes. The brigade had been called to the scene at approximately 9 p.m. It had gone home at 12:30 a.m. only to be called back at 3 a.m. when the Zur home again became enveloped in flame. Expense totalled $41.50 of which promises had been made by the parties aided by the brigade to pay. So far a Mr. Kulig had been the only one to come forward and pay $10. Letters will be sent to the other parties listing the amount of their share of the fire fighting expense.

An advertisement was authorized to be placed in The Journal informing persons residing outside the town limits that only on their promise to pay the expense of the fire brigade would the brigade be allowed to attend that particular fire.

Pte. Sam Gillies Saw Their Majesties

Pte. Sam Gillies, recently arrived in Britain, has already enjoyed the experience of seeing their majesties.

He was one of thirty picked from No. 1 Co. R.C.A.S.C., to visit Windsor castle and the St. George's Chapel. While at the castle the soldiers were served tea and while partaking of this refreshment Sam got his first glimpse of Their Majesties and their two daughters walking on the lawn surrounding the castle.

According to letters received from both Sam and Pte. L. A. Caroe, Scotland is their favorite holiday resort. The Scottish citizens appear to be most hospitable.

SUGAR FOR PRESERVES

To aid thrifty housewives who do up their own fruit preserves and make jams and jellies, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces that housewives may obtain for canning and preserving fruit, one-half pound of sugar for each pound weight of fruit. For jams and jellies, they may obtain three-quarters of a pound of sugar for each pound of fruit. This is in addition to sugar ration allowed for home use. It does not apply to manufacturers and no additional sugar may be purchased for curing or preserving meats.

LOYAL CITIZENS DO NOT HOARD!

Hoarders are people who buy and store away goods beyond their immediate needs.

They want to be in an unfair position over their neighbors.

Hoarders are traitors to their country and their fellow citizens, because by creating excessive and unnecessary demands for goods, they slow down the war effort.

There is no excuse for "panic buying" and hoarding. Everyone will have enough, if no one tries to get more than a fair share.

Hoarding must stop! Every unnecessary purchase makes it more difficult for Canada to do a full war job.

THERE'S A LAW AGAINST HOARDING

It is against the law to buy more than current needs.

Violation of the law is punishable by fines up to $8,000, and imprisonment for as long as two years.

AVOID ALL UNNECESSARY BUYING — AVOID WASTE MAKE EVERYTHING LAST THE LONGEST TIME POSSIBLE

GROWING TENSION WITH FALSE LEADERS

Golden text: He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth. Luke 11:23.

Lesson: Luke 11:14-54; 13:31-35. Devotional reading: Psalm 26:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

A Pharisee's Criticism and Jesus' Denunciations in Answer, Luke 11:37-44. Luke records three invitations to dine which Jesus accepted from Pharisees. One time when Jesus had been talking to a multitude gathered about him (verse 29) a Pharisee brought him to dine with him, and Jesus complied. At once his host found an opportunity for criticism: his guest failed to bathe himself, or wash his hands in water, with prescribed custom. Jesus answered the criticism with a sharp reproof of the way of life of Pharisees in general, accusing them of the outside of the cup and of the platter—a figurative expression for their conduct in its outward appearance—while their inward part, their real nature, was full of extortion and wickedness.

"Ye foolish ones, did not he that made the outside make the inside also?" Did not the Creator who made our bodies, make our souls also? And should we not give care to both?" Jesus next reproved the Pharisees for their pride and vanity, their desire for the chief seats in the synagogues (the semi-circular bench around the ark and facing the congregation) and the salutations of the people in the market places, and for their hypocrisy. They were like concealed tombs over which men walk without knowing it. Contact with sepulchres was regarded as defiling, and annually on the 15th day of Adar they had them covered with lime-wash so that no one might touch them unwares and be made ceremonially unclean. Like unwashed tombs, the Pharisees defiled those who came in contact with them.

Criticism of The Seribes, Luke 11:45-52. The scribes were the exponents of the law which the Pharisees scrupulously observed, and one of them then said to Jesus that his words were a reproach upon them likewise. "Woe unto you lawyers also," cried Jesus, "for ye load men with burdens grievous to be borne"—by adding to the written law many minute and troublesome laws which they declared more important than the law itself, Mt. 23:23—"and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers." The last statement is a proverbial saying for "will not take the smallest trouble to keep their own rules."

A Wise Precaution Frock Slims Down Your Waist

BY ANNE ADAMS

Key Ministers When Making Trip Should Not Travel Together

The Toronto Star says: Those who travel on government business often travel dangerously. Hon. Norman Rogers died in a plane crash when minister of defence. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions, had a narrow escape from death when the Western Prince was torpedoed. His financial adviser, Gordon Scott of Montreal, lost his life. Dr. Banting went to his death in a Newfoundland crash. Hon. J. L. Falconer, defence minister, recently experienced a forced landing in Northern Ontario. It is to be noted that he and Air Minister Power were travelling on separate planes at the time. That is a wise precaution. Key ministers should not travel together in planes or on ships.

The people of Bristol, who have suffered heavily from raids, have sent £200 ($3,500) to the people of Malta to help relieve air raid distress.

Paper waste may be utilized in the making of yeast, glue, plastics and fertilizer.

The first banded bird to fly across the Atlantic was recorded July 3, 1913.

Never before has there been such flattery for the larger figure as you get in Anne Adams Patterns! Take Pattern 4772, for instance—those of you whose waist is NOT ring-sized will find the extra inches disappear when you don this frock. The effect is achieved by a lowered waist seam pointed above the centre skirt panel—the slashes just above the waist complete the girdle effect. Four jewel buttons march up to the tiny revers, which are so pert! (You may make them of contrast). The waistband continues in back for a sleek look—the skirt is evenly flared all around. Follow the Sewing Instructor while you work, to get every detail right—choose three-quarter sleeves if you like, and do select a gay print like this!

Pattern 4772 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3 1/4 yards 39 inch fabric.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

Growth of the play from rehearsal to rehearsal is most important to both director and cast. What do you do with actors when they go stale? Well, frankly, I don't know. I've never had that experience. Now I can hear you scoff, but I really mean it. Of course, I have been fortunate to have always or nearly always been able to choose a royalty play. That means a great deal. Usually the lines are so well written that they carry the play without a great deal more, if you haven't an experienced cast. Take the "First Dress Suit," a delightful play for a young man of 16 years, who can carry a good solo part. In this play the family order a dress suit for the young man on the occasion of his sister's wedding, and when the bridegroom's suit does not come, it is suggested that he borrow the kid brother's. But the kid brother has made other plans and carries them through. "We like a play we can get our teeth into," is an oft repeated expression in my group, hence we do more comedy than tragedy because it is harder to do. Why? you ask. Well, comedy must be played in a racy, breezy manner and FAST. No stops between lines for cues. With tragedy, you can take your time and gradually build to the climax and the pauses often add atmosphere. Not so with comedy unless you are filled with wisecracks, so laughs a minute, well, after the first three or four rehearsals the cast no longer enjoys these jokes. And unless the cast enjoys the play, they can't do a convincing performance, hence the audience can feel that lack of conviction in action and speech.

To Get Real Benefit

To get the real benefit out of a play it should be repeated at least three or four times in public, so that the definite feeling as far as audience reaction is concerned, is felt. The cast should know that the audience will always laugh on this line or that line if they get it over. The cast learn to criticize their own work. They know at the end of the performance whether they were as good as usual and you will hear them in the dressing room criticizing themselves. That is when growth is taking place.

I think most casts go stale because the play isn't interesting enough to hold them. As soon as you discover all there is to know about anything or anybody, you often lose interest or your interest wanes. So it is with a play. Get a good one, take time to do it well, allowing the characters to grow as the rehearsals progress, each time something new will be discovered and discussed, and so it goes.

A play is an experiment in theatre. But it is a satisfying one to all concerned, the director, the cast and those behind the scenes. Effective style in a performance generally does not come through any conscious effort to be different or original. Audiences are quick to recognize tricks and the dramatic gimmicks. Give a simple, sincere, convincing performance, which is the outcome of the growth of the characterizations and you will have a satisfying performance, satisfying to everyone concerned.—Mary Ellen Burgess, 326, Regina, Sask.

Soon Grow Obsolete

Newer And More Powerful War Weapons Being Constantly Produced

Weapons now in use will be obsolete to some extent in 1943 and 1944 because of the production of more powerful instruments of war. Dean C. J. Mackenzie, acting president of the National Research Council, said in an address to the Canadian Club at Montreal.

Dr. Mackenzie said that continual progress in the development of tanks, guns, planes and other weapons of war was what would turn the balance in total warfare.

The demand for equipment after the fall of France had been so urgent, he said, that no time could be devoted to the development of newer types of weapons.

Early models of the bayonet—about 1640—were inserted in the muzzle of the musket which could not be fired till the bayonet was removed.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

INDUSTRIAL MEDICINE

"All the resources of industrial medicine must be concentrated on the problem of personal illness if industry's loss of production time is to be reduced," declared Dr. C. D. Selby, in an article appearing in the current issue of Health Magazine, organ of the Health League of Canada.

Dr. Selby speaks with authority. Medical consultant to General Motors Corporation of Detroit, he is a member of the Council on Industrial Health of the American Medical Association, vice-chairman of the Committee on Toxic Gases of the American Standards Association, and chairman on Industrial Health and Medicine of the Health and Medical Committee, a federal defence agency.

"In your country and mine," he said, "we hope soon to take the offensive against a common enemy. Every hour counts. We must exert every effort to curtail the loss of valuable production time caused by illness and accidents."

Drawing upon his experience of over 20 years in the field of industrial medicine, Dr. Selby pointed out that the picture has been greatly changed by compensation laws, the safety movement, and the introduction of industrial hygiene methods and studies in sickness absenteeism.

"Whereas accidents were common in industry 30 years ago, today they are largely infrequent sources of disability. Greatest source of loss time among industrial workers today are not the occupational diseases and accidents—but sickness not related to occupation and injuries received at home, in traffic and in the pursuit of recreation."

Dr. Selby continued: "In one form or another, personal sickness will disable one worker out of ten and the average amount of time lost in each case will be 40 days."

CHAPTER XVII.

Tamar rose quickly. Was Ranny going to try to make love to her? It had been such a perfect hour, this one that had just passed.

Ransome rose, too, and slipping his hand through her arm walked beside her to the old mill.

"Mind if I go ahead with my ideas on the subject? I just remarked that in the stone age a man could go out and do battle with his rival and run away with the girl of his choice. He didn't have to stand by with gentlemanly inhibitions and see somebody else try to win her."

Tamar gave him a swift glance. Ransome's bare blond head was utterly handsome. His features strong and clear-cut, his dark eyes shining through blond lashes.

"This is really so sudden, Ranny," Tamar said mockingly.

With one swoop Ransome picked her up in his hard arms and strode toward the stone bench somebody had built years ago. "None of that, Tamar," he held her close to him and she could hear the pounding of his heart.

She closed her eyes and wondered where her tempestuousness had flown. She should have railed against him, and slid out of his arms and in the old manner kicked his shins. But she was suddenly ineffably weary, and Ransome's arms made a haven of peace and security for her.

As he sat down on the bench she looked up at him and murmured: "Sir, you are so big and strong, and I so little and weak, wouldst kindly put me down?"

"Down?" said Ransome. He opened his arms and she slid out.

You couldn't make love to a girl like that. He was helplessly angry, and moreover he felt silly. Why need she always make him feel as though they were still in their teens, acting out some foolish drama that she had concocted out of her imagination?

Ranny stared moodily at the mill wheel. He couldn't make love to Tamar now or any other time as long as she thought of him as the did. Let a man like Christopher Sande come into Tablanekka and half the girls in town were trying to marry him.

Tamar sprang to her feet and ran to him suddenly, taking him by surprise. "Get up, lazy bones. Time to explore the old cabin before we go home."

Ransome studied her eager face, her blue eyes were lit and shining.

She wanted to explore while he wanted more than anything in the world to gather her up in his arms. Reluctantly he turned from the bench. Well, anything to please the Queen! And he hated himself for thinking of her in that way, for she was really his queen, his idea of heaven on earth.

To think of her at night was to dream of her the whole night through; her little hand held across the shorthand pad for the dictation that Miss Edie carefully took; her piquant face with its frame of black curls was in every book, on every magazine page; she was always with him in reality—in flesh and blood—they must go and explore a cabin!

Ranny's tall figure moved beside her small one. "Wait—let's look in the old mill while we're here so close. I'll go first, so we can see if it's safe to step on the old boarding."

"I'd hate to see you fall in the water with that good-looking suit, Ran. Let me go first—it can't hurt this riding habit."

He set her to one side, saying firmly: "If any one's going to have to hang on the line and get out, let me be the martyr!" He stepped gingerly up to the old deck, testing the flooring with his shoes. "It's pretty rotten, Tam. Shall we risk it?"

"Of course not, if you think it shouldn't be walked on." She came closer to him, and catching hold of the old door, swung it open. It creaked on its rusted hinges and slammed against the outer wall.

"Look!" She pointed down at the dust over the sill. "Some one's been here. Look at the tracks. Boot tracks, Ranny."

"Right-o Sherlock. Well, if they can, I can. Here goes!" He stood with his full weight on the broken floor boards.

"Lots of track, Tam, as though some one came here frequently. And they must be recent, too, because it rained last week."

Before he could prevent her, she had leaped upon the old deck, too, and walked across to peer into the dimness of the chamber which had held grain for grinding. "She tugged at his sleeves. 'Isn't that a cot, Ranny? And a table? Some one's been living here, I'll bet.'"

Their eyes were accustomed to the darkness now, and they carefully skirted the holes in the floor and went inside.

"Some one has been staying here," Ranny held up a tin can. "And my guess is that they're still staying here. We'd better get out pronto. Here's evidence of a meal just eaten—maybe this morning."

He picked up something else. "I don't like to be a prying Friar, but isn't that the Cricket Hill stationery?"

"Ranny!" Tamar gave a startled cry. She reached for the long envelope. "Of course it is! Let me see!"

She hurried to the doorway so the light was better.

The headings were from the office of the Cricket Hill, and the signature at the bottom was that of the major.

She read the message aloud. "Please wait until I advise regarding shipment of bars. Details soon worked out. Planning cache in old mill on Whiffle Creek."

Ranny took out pencil and paper and copied the letter word for word. "Hurry!" Tam urged. "We'd better get out of here."

They sprang down from the deck and ran for Ransome's car. "If only we aren't discovered," she said breathlessly. "I'm afraid that our car tracks will be noticed. Thank goodness you cleaned up the luncheon papers."

They were out of the old road in a few minutes and on to the better highway leading to the paving.

"Why would they choose a place this far away?" Tamar asked. "And what is the cache for, Ranny?"

"Your guess is as good as mine. But we both know—and don't need to

"I never heard of anything so preposterous in all this modern age. Why, it's like the old days of high-women and pirates. What are we going to do?" Her eyes were enormous now and her hands shook.

"That's the very worst of it," Ran said meditatively. "We've some sus-sensions, but nothing very definite to tie them to. You have to have some concrete evidence in a thing like this. You can't just go and arrest a man for suspecting him to be considering committing a crime."

"Look, Ranny. There's the major's car!"

"You're nervous. That probably wasn't the major. I'll bet there are four cars right in this neighborhood just like his."

"I couldn't really tell, Ran, I'm scared."

Todd gave a short laugh. "This is funny. Not a half hour ago, I said that in the stone age a man could go out and fight for the girl he loved. I guess he can even in this age!"

She missed the implication of his words, entirely, and said: "But what can you do?"

"That remains to be seen. The first thing I'm going to do is to deliver you safely to the door at Shadwell, and if I have to guard you, leave you bound hand and foot, you're not to leave the place unless accompanied by me or your father."

"You mean I can't even go out in the car in broad daylight? Now, listen here, Ransome Todd, you're just a little high-handed! I have an engagement tonight with Christopher Sande. And I'm certainly going to keep it."

"Going over to the enemy's camp, huh? Very well, keep your engagement. After all, a man of Sande's standing and popularity should be trusted."

"I don't like your infection on the word 'should'! I admire Christopher very much," Tamar's cheeks flamed.

"I trust it is only admiration that prompts you to come to his defense. Be that as it may, I'll grant that Sande has a way with him. He has caused much fluttering of hearts in Tablanekka. And the man enjoys it. Actually, he admitted it to Dick Sheridan."

Tamar said coolly, "I suppose he's been taking Selby out, and you don't like it."

"Oh, yes, quite a number of times. Dick says he's over at Pinecrest about three evenings out of the week."

Tamar kept her eyes on the road for fear that she would betray her surprise. She had not known that Christopher saw Selby that often.

He had been on the verge of kissing her one night last week. If he were seeing Selby—A little shiver ran up Tamar's back.

Ransome was turning in to the lane now, and a flock of clucking guineas meandered slowly across the road in front of them.

Tamar opened the door before he could get out. "Thanks a lot, Ransome. I enjoyed the picnic very much. Will you let me have the copy of that letter?"

"I think I'd better keep it. And Tamar, please don't mention this to any one. Not even your father. I don't believe anything will happen for two weeks, at least."

"Is it what we think?" (To Be Continued)

Gardening

Big Vegetable Garden

A good big vegetable garden is both patriotic and commonsense in wartime, provided he is willing to devote all his spare time to it one person can handle a quarter acre of vegetable garden and grow more than enough vegetables to feed a family the year round. But a quarter of an acre is a big garden.

As a matter of fact, all experienced gardeners advocate a small, well cultivated plot in preference to one larger and receiving less care. The smaller plot, too, in the end will produce the best and the most vegetables. If the original digging is followed promptly and regularly with from two to four thorough cultivations, about a week to ten days apart, the weeds will get discouraged. To make sure however, that the weeds are killed and not just temporarily put off from starting, it is well to allow sufficient time in between cultivation for the pests to germinate and start to grow.

Don't Rush Planting

Many more flowers and vegetables are lost through planting too soon than too late, and in war time especially we cannot afford such waste. There are, it is true, a few things that are not hurt by sowing early, plants that naturally reproduce themselves in Canada.

In this category will be onions, garden peas, parsnips, lettuce, radish, etc., among the vegetables, and in the flowers—cosmos, bachelor's buttons, sweet peas, alyssum. All of these and some more will stand moderate frost and throughout most of Canada can be sown just as soon as the soil can be worked. But there are a great many more flowers and vegetables that will not survive frost. These must not be sown outside until the weather really turns warm. Actually they will not make any growth until the soil is warm, usually in mid-May or later. There is nothing to be gained by rushing them in too soon.

Flower Jungles

One can do wonders with flowers alone, but still more amazing results will follow where we combine flowers skilfully with grass, winding walks, shrubbery and bits of stonework. In this combining, however, we must take care to not reproduce a jungle. A little preliminary planning and a rough sketch drawn approximately to scale will help wonderfully. Flowers and shrubbery must not be so crowded that they become spindly and weak. There should be a generous foreground of good lawn.

Little flowers must not be hidden by tall ones, flowers like full-size marigolds, cosmos or zinnias. Beds must be so arranged that we can keep down weeds and remove fading foliage.

Cats were regarded as sacred in ancient Egypt. When they died, they were embalmed and buried in the Temple of Bast, the cat-headed goddess.

May Be Successful

Plan To Establish Mail Service With Britons In Japan

The British Broadcasting Corporation reported efforts are being made by Postmaster-General Morrison to establish mail service with British prisoners of war and civilians held in Japan.

The service had been suggested to the Japanese government and everything possible is being done to have it put into effect, it was reported.

Cheese For Britain

Quota Of 112,000,000 Pounds Will Be Filled This Year

Have you been doing without cheese because you wanted to do your share for Great Britain? If so, you will be glad to hear that Great Britain's cheese quota of 112,000,000 pounds will be filled by the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1942.

According to the Department of Agriculture, it is quite all right to buy the cheese you see in the stores. You may not be able to get the exact kind of cheese you want or as much as you want, but you are not on the honor system of rationing as is necessary with sugar and bacon.

In 1941 some 9,000,000 pounds of cheese had to be withdrawn from the domestic market to ensure filling British contracts. Owing to unfavorable pasture conditions in the main producing areas last year, the increase in milk for cheese production was small and it has remained necessary to limit the amount of cheese in the home market.

Ordinarily Canadians eat 40,000,000 pounds of cheese a year. From a nutritional standpoint this is not enough—a mere 3 1/2 pounds per person per year. The Canadian cheese industry is now working overtime for Britain so Canadians must postpone the day when they increase cheese consumption for their own benefit. When the war is over housewives can do double duty by using more cheese to increase the family supply of calcium and helping to stabilize the industry that is now working for Britain.

Look Out! A Sick Liver is Dangerous

Do you have persistent headaches and backaches? Are you tortured by rheumatic pains in muscles and joints? A faulty liver is clogging your whole system. Serious ill health may result.

● Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-aches, back-aches, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruits-ives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruits-ives" are Canada's biggest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruits-ives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

Ratepayers Of Coleman!

Do you know where your children are, or what they are doing when they are away from your own home? Do you care what they are doing, or in whose company they are associated? You would not thank others to tell you of the damage and destruction your boy, along with others has done. Still the feet remain that a number of boys whose families are beyond reproach have done these things.

Take for example a few weeks ago some boys broke into the curling rink and removed 27 mazda lamps of 150 and 200 watt, costing around $25. Surely if my boy came home with some of these lights I would want to know where he got them and would make it my business to find out with whom he had been to get these lights.

Again last week the curling rink was entered by breaking through one of the doors and some of the ceiling club's rocks taken onto the ice in the big rink. These the boys set about to destroy, the ladders are broken and one of the rocks is so badly broken that it will spoil the pair. On top of this they have deliberately smashed all the lights right in the sockets in the large rink. Here again is $100 or more damage. How much longer are we going to sit back and let this kind of thing go on? Is this the kind of better citizenship we are trying to develop or is it that we do not give a damn for the younger generation.

I for one believe that those in authority should be compelled to take some action to bring these culprits to justice so that an example may be made before this tendency for robbery and destruction gets too far.

Some of our young men put a great deal of work and effort this past winter to provide good clean sport for the boys of Coleman. A great number of the boys appreciate these efforts but there are those who, no matter what efforts are put forward on their behalf, can only get enjoyment by destroying the material provided for their benefit and entertainment.

The sooner we get together and see that our boys take part in the things which in later years will be of benefit to them, also that for at least a part of the time we will know that they are receiving something that will help to develop their characters as well as their bodies. Then will we be doing our part towards making better citizens of our boys.

—Harold Houghton.
